A military factory was under construction east of Viglas (N 48-34, E 19-18) in the summer of 1951 (for approximate location see sketch page 2).

it was being built under military control. The construction was being done by Stavoprojekt, National Enterprise, in Zvolen (N 48-35, E 19-08). Stavoprojekt referred to the construction of the military factory as Residential Area H (Sidliste H). The entire area was off-limits. The Research Center for Animal Production in Viglas was not permitted to make use of its pasture land located on the outskirts of this area. A spur track, normal gauge, led from the Viglas-Pstrusa railroad station into the area. There were about 10 apartment houses, apparently for future factory employees, and workers' barracks close to the spur track. They were located east of the track and inside the restricted area. No other construction could be observed from outside the area since the area was hilly and forested.
